A compound of Formula I is a selective and orally active non-peptidic inhibitor of TNF-alpha converting enzyme (TACE) which is responsible for processing of human TNF-alpha. This compound inhibits TNF-alpha release from human peripheral blood mononuclear cells stimulated by SEB (Staphylococcal enterotoxin B) and Con A (Concanavalin A). It is known that TNF-alpha release from a variety of cell types stimulated by lipopolysaccharide (LPS) results in Gram-negative sepsis and septic shock. TNF-alpha is a pro-inflammatory cytokine involved in the pathogenesis of endotoxin shock. There is a need for TNF-alpha inhibitors to control the deleterious effects of excessive TNF-alpha production in conditions of inflammatory stress such as septic shock. TNF-alpha inhibitors are of interest in that they have been observed to be effective in treating inflammatory diseases, such as inflammatory arthritis, Crohn's disease and several dermatological conditions.
